

Multipurpose Reloading Complex congratulates on the professional holiday

30 June 2017

Dear colleagues! Please, accept my congratulations on the occasion of the professional holiday – Day of Marine and River Workers!

Being a part of the international trade process, our company is making significant input into transport and logistics system of the global power supply industry. Development of MPRC's infrastructure, including modernization of technical equipment, refurbishment of the berths and construction of new railways is solid background for further strengthening of the terminal's position in the stevedoring market.

The turnover of our company is growing and we remain prosperous due to robust realization of our projects. However, the company's success is, first of all, the result of inputs of people – MPRC's employees, who work as a solid team and each one is making a highly valued contribution into development and progress of our common goals.

I wish you personal happiness, health, well-being, optimistic lifestyle and new career accomplishments.

Let your homes be peaceful, heart-warming and harmonious!
